

1. Cookies are pieces of information that are stored in a website user's terminal equipment by means of software application while the user is using the website.
2. www.turbineanalytics.com does not automatically record information about individual users, except for information included in cookies themselves.
3. Cookies carry the name of the issuing website, the time they have been stored for in a user's terminal equipment and unique identification numbers.
4. The website operator Turbine Analytics S.A. , seated at ul. Włocławska 167, 87-100 Toruń, sends cookies to the website user's terminal equipment and gains access to them.
5. www.turbineanalytics.com uses the following types of cookies:
  - "access" cookies" – they make it possible to get access to the services available on the website;
  - "analytical" cookies" – they make it possible to collect information on what the webpages of the website are used for;
  - "functional" cookies – they make it possible to “remember” the interface settings picked by the user.
6. Internet browsers allow for default storing cookies in the user's terminal equipment. The website users can change the settings of the cookies (at any time) and block the recording of cookies in their terminal equipment. The website operator informs that blocking cookies may affect the usability of the website and it can make it impossible to use the website functions that have been picked. More information on cookies is available in the “Help” section of the user's internet browser.